

Elevenmile Creek without IP Flow

When the Pensacola Mill went down for scheduled maintenance in June 2007, the environmental team took advantage of the opportunity to see what Elevenmile Creek will look like once the mill's effluent is removed. As you can see from the photos below, the creek is shallow with a clean, sandy bottom and embankment.

